Parshat Noach

what's nu in shul

Mazal Tov to Mitch and Sharon Marcus on the birth of a grandson, to parents Faiga Miriam and Avraham Marcus, of Lod.

Mazal Tov to Rachma and Gedaliah Friedenberg, on the birth of a grandson, to parents Tzippy and Yisrael Friedenberg, of Yerushalayim.

Kiddush

Kiddush this week is sponsored by Debby and Yehuda Lazarus, in honor of the recent wedding of their grandchildren, Tamar and Yaacov Lichtgold, of RBS.

Tefillah Notes

We always need to pay attention to our prayers, but sometimes there's more than usual to remember! Please note these upcoming changes:

- We begin reciting V'tain Tal U'matar at Maariv this Motzaei Shabbat, October 17. See Rabbi Myers' Q&A on page 3 for related halachot.

- With the shorter days, Shacharit is starting progressively later. This week the start time ranges from 06:25-06:28. Once we "fall back" with the clock change on Motzei Shabbat/Sunday morning Oct. 24/25, Shacharit times will return to normal.

- Likewise, Mincha is getting earlier (this coming week at 17:30), and will get considerably earlier after the clocks change.

As always, see the calendar below and Shul communications for the latest information.

getting IT right²

- Q. This Motzaei Shabbat at Maariv, we switch from saying V'tein Beracha to V'tein Tal U'matar L'veracha in Bareich Aleinu. What is the Halacha if Velvel is unsure which phrase he recited, and already concluded the Shemoneh Esrei?
- A. Within the first 30 days, he must repeat the Shemoneh Esrei, as it is assumed that by habit he recited the previous phrase. According to the Mahara"m M'Ruttenberg, one can recite the phrase (outside the context of Tefillah) "v'et kol minei tevuatah l'tova v'tain tal umatar l'veracha" 90 times, and then it is considered to be an ingrained habit, and he would not be required to repeat his Tefillah if he was in doubt.

On the other hand, the Vilna Gaon did not agree that repeating the phrase on its own, outside the normal context of the Shemoneh Esrei, would have the effect of making it a habit. He therefore did not sanction this practice.

B'dieved, we do rely on the Mahara"m M'Ruttenberg's opinion. But the best advice, as always, is to concentrate on the Tefillah, and get it right the first time!

את האלוקים התהלך נח (בראשית ו:ט)

Love and Rebuke

The Seforno writes that when the Torah says that Noach walked with G-d, it means that he walked in G-d's ways by helping others and rebuking them.

Why this combination? Why isn't it sufficient just to say that Noach walked in G-d's path by helping people, or that Noach walked in G-d's way by rebuking them? Why is walking in G-d's path a combination of both?

Rav Chaim Elazary, זצ"ל, emphasizes that Noach's motivation for rebuking his fellow man did not emanate from a desire to protect or sanctify G-d's Name, but rather it originated from a profound sense of love and caring for humanity. This caring for humanity translated itself into reproving the people whenever appropriate. Thus the two ideas are connected. It is only because Noach walked in G-d's ways and wished to help others that he was able to rebuke them.¹

The next piece of information that the Torah gives us regarding Noach is that he had three sons. The Seforno writes that only once Noach began rebuking the people did he merit to father children.

Perhaps this is a continuation of the same theme. Part of parenting is to rebuke our children and to offer them the wisdom of our experience. However, only if our sole purpose is to help them are we permitted to do so. Our overriding motivation must be love and a strong desire to help our children avoid taking the wrong path. If we have any other motivation when correcting them, then not only will we fail, but we will not be walking in G-d's path!

Q. Other than this Parsha, where else is 40 days mentioned in the Torah? (5 answers)

See next week's newsletter for the answer.

Last week's question: Q: Aside from the first day of creation, where else in the book of Bereishit is the phrase "Yom Echad" – "one day" used (2 answers)? A: In Bereishit 27:45, Rivka worries that her two sons will die on "Yom Echad". In Bereishit 33:13, Yaakov excuses himself from traveling with Esav by stating that if he does, the children and sheep will be too pressured for "Yom Echad."
